To-Day a Schedule.

Mr. Cush Quinn, a haw-abiding citizen of St. Louis, a liveryman and undertaker by profession, basebalt player by nature and education, played a star role as a pinch hitter at League Park yesterday. Butting for Pitcher Cy Young in the last half of the ninth finning, Reister on second base, two out and two strikes and no balls on im, one run needed to k-ep St. Louis from losing the game. Mr. Online bit as pretty a single to left field as ever you saw. Erister ran in with the tying run. Five thousand people took off their hats and cheered the steady, reliable Quinn to the echo. While they were doing it he was not heeling. He was playing bait by running to second base while the left fielder was throwing to head Keister off at the plate.

A moment later Denovan singled and sent Quinn home with the winning run. Young for St. Louis and Orth and Platt for Philadelphia were the pitchers. St. Louis won, 6 to 5, in an uphill fight all the way.

All right, Mr. "Cush" Quitus, ellinen of St. Louis, father of seven well-fed, wellbred "kideens," They may take you out of the game when you are hitting .400 and kind of hand you the worst of it all the way round, but there is no way on earthto keep a real good man down. Austin, Tex., May M.-The agent of the St Louis street car companies who arrived her yesterday, as noted in these dispatches last night, for the purpose of securing mo-termen to operate the cars in St. Louis during and after the strike, has run amuck of the unions of this State. As soon as it was ascertained that he was here trying to secure men and had secured some dozen or more, the unions all over the State began ar-wiring here assing the local unions of all trades to prevail upon the men not to go to St. Louis.

"We, the Executive Board of the street railway employes of St. Louis, in season assembled, indorse the following resolution. "Whereas, an impression has gone abroad that the street railway employes' organization is opposing the World's Fair bill new before Congress; this is absolutely untrue, and as an organization this matter has never been discussed or referred to in any way in our meetings; we take this opportunity of denying any connection with telegrams or communications which have been sent detrimental to the movement." "Organized labor in St. Louis is not opposed to the World's Fair movement," seld Mr. H. W. Steinbirs, general secretary and treasurer of the National Building Trades Council of America. Other labor leaders are emphatic in denying that there is any opposition to the World's Fair in their ranks. Mr. Steinbirs is vehement in denouncing the sending of the misleading talegram, because he has been prominently identified with committees working in the interests of the World's Fair movement.

Mayor Ziegenhein yesterday gave out to the press an expression of his determination to oppose any ordinance that may be hereafter introduced in the Municipal As-
